

RACE-BRED THOROBREDS

It is unfair to compare a Donzi with any other boat—there just isn't any comparison. You have a Donzi, or you don't. There is no in-between. If you want a boat in which to travel around the world, Donzi isn't it (although we would be the first to bet you'd make it). But if you want the world's finest personal sports boat, Donzi is it. From the saucy 14-foot Donzi Baby to the completely elegant, completely dominant 28-foot dragon named Donzi, they're designed and built for those who want the best.

Ask anyone who has been in, or followed, the ocean races where these superb boats were born and bred. Donzis didn't just win—they smashed the old records to bits. That's the way Donzis perform. And it's why awed racing competitors who met them from Miami to Malta gave them a family label they still carry: "those damned Donzis!"

There is only one way to find out what a Donzi really is. Take the wheel and be a tyrant. Wring her out. Try to demand something she can't produce. Then you'll discover how great a personal boat really can be!
